April 2010

Dear friend,

I am pleased to send my very best wishes to the British Sikh community for the festival of Vaisakhi.

I know that British Sikhs have made a great contribution to the economic, cultural and political life of the United Kingdom, and the Sikh faith and culture have brought tremendous strengths and benefits to our society.

Vaisakhi demonstrates the enduring values of the Sikh community - a belief in equality and social justice. These are values which also inspire me and they are shared by the wider British community.

I am delighted to have this opportunity to send you my best wishes at this special time and to wish you and your family a very happy Vaisakhi.

Yours sincerely,

Gordon Brown
Leader of the Labour Party
